iNDige-IS is an organisation delivering Support Coordination, Specialist Support Coordination and Psychosocial Recovery Coach services across Australia. We empower people with disability to have choice, control, and independence by providing safe, high-quality care tailored to their needs. Through Support Coordination, we help participants build the skills to understand and implement their plans, while connecting them with NDIS providers, community organisations, mainstream services, and other government supports.

iNDige-IS can:

- Establish what you want to achieve with your NDIS funding
- Build your capacity and confidence for your NDIS plan
- Connect you with appropriate supports for you or your loved one
- Empower you to have choice and control over your plan
- Foster a disability sector that treats all people equally by assisting people with disability to access supports and services without discrimination.
- Be clear and honest about what we can do with you and how we will do it together.
